

Summer Series #5, June 30, 2020

Hello runners,

Below are results from today's virtual run. This was to be a 5K cross country run. Some did cross country and some did road. In any case this has always been a poker hand for the series place.

A note on card hand for anyone who cares. The spread sheet generates random numbers between 1 and 13. 1 being an ace and 13 being a king. I add the card values to get a total. High total wins. The random numbers are actually generated to several decimal places so there really are no ties.

The next run is supposed to be a 5K handicap start. I am still working out the details on that, but I have an alternate location if need be. Due to how the handicap start can have more grouping at the start and the finish, it will not be a handicap start.

Run safe

Kev
